

AGENDA

WINTER OUTLOOK WORKSHOP

November 20-21, 2014

Marine Ecosystem Sensing, Observation, and Modeling Lab (MESOM), room 251
Scripps Institution of Oceanography
San Diego

Thursday November 20th

- 1:00 Welcome & opening remarks
Jeanine Jones, DWR
Marty Ralph, Scripps
- 1:15 Workshop purpose & goals, relationship to other activities
Jeanine Jones
- 1:45 CW3E activities in support of subseasonal to seasonal (S2S) forecasting
Marty Ralph and Sasha Gershunov, Scripps
- 2:15 DWR state climatologist activities, western states' climatologists
Mike Anderson, DWR
- 2:45 New projects at UC Irvine: big data and ARs, bringing in satellite data
Amir AghaKouchak, UCI
- 3:15 Break
- 3:30 Potential NOAA activities related to S2S forecasting
Kevin Werner, NOAA
- 4:00 Programmatic approaches for raising visibility of S2S work (DWR-NOAA RISA MOA, etc)
Group discussion
- 4:30 Adjourn

Friday November 21st

8:30 Experimental forecast for winter 2014-15, California and Colorado River Basin,
& forecast discussion
Klaus Wolter

10:00 Break

10:15 Long-term patterns in reconstructed flows in Western river basins
Dave Meko, University of Arizona

10:45 WCRP/WWRP S2S Project and other MJO & AR activities
Duane Waliser, JPL

11:15 Implementing WSWC positions on forecasting and Western observing system for extreme precipitation
Spring Council workshop
Jeanine Jones, DWR

11:30 Group discussion on research needs, funding opportunities
Research on statistical forecasting
Upcoming calls for proposals
Publication opportunities

11:45 Next steps, wrap up

12:00 Adjourn